Are there any plans to have a presence at the Capitol this year to mark the National Day of Reason? I Did not see any details on the Calander of Events and it is next week.

That's something we're working on. Our events calendar is based on the listings from Atheist Weekly Email. The problem is that AWE usually only has events for the upcoming week, so even through we know we're going to be doing something, it is missing from the calendar. We're trying to get better about keeping people informed about what we do.
