I think context is important to keep in mind. I'm sure this message was ment to be out of good will, rather than "stickin one to the little guy". We are the little guy. Like it or not, atheists are aprox. 2-5% of the population.

MN nice pastors are the least of our worries. We should focus on the WBC, if anyone.

I do understand your frustration though, all too well.

It gets way worse
BAE has 5 of the same posters when you walk in with god in their motto.
One big picture on the wall inside has a modern tank in a warzone with jesus standing next to it releasing a white dove.
I'm gonna ask to never go back, hope they fold up

I don't find it offensive, but I'd certainly go somewhere else...
