
Saw August's article in the St. Cloud Times

Bravo!

My mother, who was raised by devout Catholic farmers, brought it to my attention knowing that I'm not a subscriber to the Times. We've had some discussions about my newly outed atheism lately, and I was thrilled to see August's name at the top of the article. It legitimized my interest in Minnesota Atheists somehow, and I know it's cultivating seeds of thought with her. She's been disillusioned with the church lately and in some sense understands my position.

I'm rambling, but suffice to say I thought it was a well-written article and wanted to offer my compliments. You do great work, August.
